

RE: Notice of Engineering devices

If the Qorvo products specified on this document are identified as Engineering Status, they are defined as products in development. All Engineering Samples are supplied for the purpose of customer development and testing. They are provided under the following special terms in addition to Qorvo's Standard Terms and Conditions of Sale:

- (1) These parts may not have been fully tested or characterized under intended modes of operation and may contain defects;
- (2) Standard company procedures for quality control and reliability testing may have not been performed;
- (3) Manufacturing processes or materials may be changed or discontinued by Qorvo at any time without notification to customers;
- (4) Qorvo makes no representation or warranty regarding them;
- (5) Qorvo disclaims any liability for claims, demands, and consequential damages, resulting from any loss arising out of the application, use or performance of them.